The NFL is a league of parity, where any team can win on any given Sunday. But there are some teams that have consistently found themselves at the bottom of the pile. These teams have faced long odds and adversity, but they have never given up. This is the story of their survival.

The Cleveland Browns

The Cleveland Browns are one of the most storied franchises in NFL history. They were founded in 1946 and have won eight NFL championships, more than any other team. But the Browns have also had their share of struggles. In the 1990s, the team moved to Baltimore and became the Ravens. The Browns returned to Cleveland in 1999, but they have not been able to recapture their former glory. The Browns have not won a playoff game since 1994, and they have only had one winning season since 2002.

Despite their struggles, the Browns have a loyal fan base. The team's fans are known for their passion and their never-say-die attitude. The Browns have also been able to attract some talented players in recent years, including quarterback Baker Mayfield and wide receiver Odell Beckham Jr. The Browns are hoping that these players can help them turn things around and return to the playoffs.

The Buffalo Bills

The Buffalo Bills are another team that has struggled in recent years. The Bills have not won a playoff game since 1993, and they have only had one winning season since 2004. But the Bills have a rich history. They were founded in 1960 and won two consecutive AFL championships in 1964 and 1965. The Bills also made four consecutive Super Bowl appearances from 1990 to 1993, but they lost all four games.

The Bills have had some talented players over the years, including quarterback Jim Kelly and running back Thurman Thomas. But the team has not been able to find a consistent winning formula. The Bills are hoping that new head coach Sean McDermott can help them turn things around. McDermott has a reputation for being a tough and disciplined coach. He is also known for his ability to get the most out of his players.

The Jacksonville Jaguars

The Jacksonville Jaguars are the youngest team in the NFL. They were founded in 1995 and have never won a Super Bowl. But the Jaguars have had some success in their short history. They made the playoffs four times in the 1990s and won the AFC Central Division in 1998. But the Jaguars have struggled in recent years. They have not had a winning season since 2007.

The Jaguars have had some talented players over the years, including quarterback Mark Brunell and running back Fred Taylor. But the team has not been able to find a consistent winning formula. The Jaguars are hoping that new head coach Doug Marrone can help them turn things around. Marrone has a reputation for being a tough and physical coach. He is also known for his ability to develop young players.

The Cincinnati Bengals

The Cincinnati Bengals are another team that has struggled in recent years. The Bengals have not won a playoff game since 1990, and they have only had one winning season since 2015. But the Bengals have a rich history. They were founded in 1968 and won two AFC championships in the 1980s. The Bengals also made the Super Bowl in 1981 and 1988, but they lost both games.

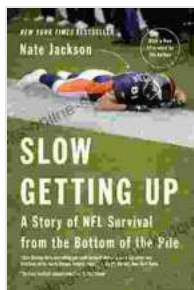

The Bengals have had some talented players over the years, including quarterback Ken Anderson and wide receiver Chad Johnson. But the team has not been able to find a consistent winning formula. The Bengals are hoping that new head coach Zac Taylor can help them turn things around. Taylor is a young and innovative coach. He is also known for his ability to develop quarterbacks.

The Detroit Lions

The Detroit Lions are the only team in the NFL that has never won a championship. The Lions were founded in 1930 and have made the playoffs only five times in their history. But the Lions have a loyal fan base. The team's fans are known for their passion and their never-say-die attitude. The Lions are hoping that new head coach Matt Patricia can help them turn things around. Patricia is a former defensive coordinator for the New England Patriots. He is known for his ability to get the most out of his players.

These five teams have all faced long odds and adversity. But they have never given up. They have continued to fight and they have continued to believe. These teams are an inspiration to us all. They show us that anything is possible if you never give up on your dreams.
