

The First Muslim: The Story of Muhammad

Muhammad was born in Mecca, Arabia, in 570 CE. He was orphaned at a young age and raised by his uncle, Abu Talib. Muhammad was a successful商人, and he married Khadijah, a wealthy widow. In 610 CE, Muhammad had a vision of the angel Gabriel, who told him that he was a prophet of God. Muhammad began to preach the message of Islam, which means "submission to God." He taught that there is only one God, Allah, and that Muhammad was his last prophet. Muhammad's teachings were met with opposition from the leaders of Mecca, who feared that he would undermine their authority. In 622 CE, Muhammad and his followers were forced to flee Mecca and settle in Medina. This journey is known as the Hijrah, and it marks the beginning of the Islamic calendar. In Medina, Muhammad established a community based on Islamic principles. He wrote down the revelations he received from God, which form the basis of the Quran, the holy book of Islam. Muhammad died in Medina in 632 CE, but his teachings continue to shape the lives of millions of people around the world.
