Early Life and Education

Warren Buffett was born on August 30, 1930, in Omaha, Nebraska. His father, Howard Buffett, was a stockbroker and congressman. Buffett's mother, Leila Stahl Buffett, was a homemaker. Buffett displayed an early interest in investing and business. At the age of 11, he bought his first stock, six shares of Cities Service Preferred. Buffett attended the University of Nebraska–Lincoln, where he studied business administration. He graduated in 1950 and went to work for his father's brokerage firm.

Investment Career

In 1956, Buffett formed his own investment partnership, Buffett Partnership Ltd. He invested in a variety of undervalued companies, including textile manufacturers, insurance companies, and banks. Buffett's investment partnership was very successful, and he quickly became known as a skilled investor. In 1962, Buffett became the CEO of Berkshire Hathaway, a textile manufacturing company. He began to acquire other businesses, including insurance companies, and Berkshire Hathaway eventually became a holding company for a diverse range of businesses.

Investment Philosophy

Buffett's investment philosophy is based on the principles of value investing. He seeks to buy stocks that are trading at a discount to their intrinsic value. Buffett believes that the intrinsic value of a stock is determined by the future cash flows that the company is expected to generate. He is willing to hold stocks for long periods of time, and he is not afraid to invest in companies that are out of favor with other investors. Buffett's patience and discipline have been key to his investment success.

Impact on the Business World

Buffett's investment success has had a profound impact on the business world. He has shown that it is possible to achieve great wealth through long-term investing. Buffett's ideas have influenced countless investors, and his investment strategies have been adopted by many corporations and institutions. Buffett is also a respected business leader, and his advice is sought after by CEOs and other business leaders around the world.

Philanthropy

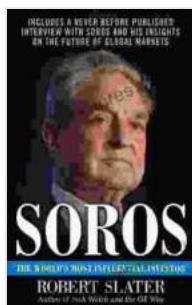

Buffett is a generous philanthropist. In 2006, he pledged to give away the majority of his wealth to charity. Buffett has donated billions of dollars to a variety of causes, including education, healthcare, and poverty alleviation. Buffett's philanthropy has had a significant impact on the world, and he is considered one of the most generous philanthropists in history.
